Twenty-twenty has been a crazy year for all of us
A pandemic crises has taken a toll on children and adults Uncertainty was troubling our mind
Fear of the future was causing sleepless nights
What we have been experiencing is nothing new 80 million people forcibly displaced
This is the tragedy of our human race
26 million refugees facing the same fate
Trapped in refugee camps with no sign of hope
No sign of hope

Now you know how it feels like to be powerless
Now you know how it feels like to feel helpless
Now you know

At least we still have a home
So it s kind of ridiculous to blame and complain
While refugees are surviving this inhuman game
We still have a roof and a safe place to stay at in lockdown
What about those who are already lower than down?
What about those?

HumanityB4Nationality, this is my Voice4refugees Tents is all they have no privacy, no safety, no comfort for children and adults no sleep, no hope, nothing at all under the most inhuman crises of all time 80 million people are struggling this inhuman crime
80 million people!

Now you know how it feels like to be powerless
Now you know how it feels like to feel helpless
Now you know how they feel

The horrible side effects of this pandemic is nothing in comparison to surviving in refugee camps 80 million people are struggling to survive, to stay alive Unhygienic and unsanitary conditions is all they know while the majority of us is worrying about toilet papers, disinfection soaps, and Co
Children s education is causing sleepless nights
Our children s future is darker than bright while refugee children have absolutely no rights Neither a home, nor schools homeschooling for them is nothing but a dream
A dream and desire for the fools
80 million people!

Now you know how it feels like to be powerless
Now you know how it feels like to feel helpless
Now you know how they feel

Twenty-twenty-one was even worse
Losing jobs has become normality
Losing loved ones, our human tragedy
Losing homes our broken society
Social distancing and face masks the new reality
We have lost our freedom and sense of togetherness
That s why the reality feels so ridiculous

A global pandemic, borders, lockdowns, travel bans Forced Quarantine, Covid tests and a vaccine are necessary to finally understand 80 million people's misery

Now you know how it feels like to be powerless
Now you know how it feels like to feel helpless
Now you know how it feels like to be one of them
Now you feel it
Now you live it
